THE RANDALL CLUB RECEPTION.

A MISTAKE IN NAMES

Caused All the Trouble Over Governor Beaver's Nose-Pulling.

CAPT, ARMES WAS NOT GEN. AMES.

Two Appointments in New York City Not

Entirely Political. A TRIANGULAR SOUTHERN FIGHT OVER

WASHINGTON, April 18 .- When the Armes court martial met to-day counsel for the accused endeavored without success to have the case dismissed for want of jurisdiction. The first witness for the defense was then called. He was A. W. Cully, a special policeman, who told how Captain Armes had been put out of the line of procession, and said that Captain Bourke appeared to be excited but not intoxicated.

Lieutenant Governor Woodbury, of Vermont, testified that he had known Armes for 25 years, and bore witness to his good character. Edwin Smith testified that he was with Armes in the Riggs House when Governor Beaver appeared. He shook hands with Armes and a conversation ensued. The Governor expressed regret that he had not learned of the inauguration day event until next day, and when Armes pressed him for a reply to his letter the Governor turned away and seemed anxious to be rid of Armes. The latter followed him, saying that he WANTED THE MATTER SETTLED, and as the Governor went on, extended his hand over his shoulder and passed it under the brim of the Governor's hat. He did not see any nose-pulling.

Governor Beaver was the next witness. He said that personally he had nothing to do with Armes' removal from the parade. Someone had suggested that General Ames be appointed on his staff, and not remembering in the hurry of the moment that Gen-eral Ames was dead, he had said "Appoint him." It appeared that Armes had thus been appointed by mistake for General Ames. He had told Armes how it occurred, and his name was dropped from the staff.
When Armes had appealed to him not to cast a stigma upon his children by appointing him to a staff position and then not allowing him to serve, he (the Governor) had expressed his sympathy and offered to make out a commission for him to show his children in the future.

ARMES HAS APOLOGIZED.

A letter from Armes to witness, dated A letter from Armes to witness, dated April 2, was put in evidence. In it Armes requests the Governor to stop the court martial proceedings, as they would result in his dismissal, and he preferrededeath to the loss of his commission. He added that the Governor stood in danger of becoming his murderer. In another letter, dated day before vesterday, he apologizes for the Riggs House episode. The witness told of this episode, saying that he had laughingly replied to Armes that he could not apologize, plied to Armes that he could not apologize, and that he had then felt Armes' hand brush his face in a rude way. He had in a moment struck with his crutch at Armes, and the blows were dangerous. Armes' ac-tion was something in the nature of both an assault and an insult. Witness took it to be an attempt to get hold of his nose, and was pretty indignant.

SOMETHING ABOUT TO DROP.

Senstor Quny Talks With the President and a Stir is Expected. SEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.3

WASHINGTON, April 18 .- The appearance of Senator Quay on the scene of action, after an absence of nearly two weeks, has brightened up the Pennsylvanians who are here a wonderful degree. They have been very melancholy during his absence. Senator Cameron has been in town most of the time, though absent now, but for some reason the office seekers look upon Colonel Quay as the working partner of the Penn-sylvania firm, and think that without him

Senator Quay had a chat with the President to-day. It did not last very long, but it seemed to have a pleasing effect on the Senator, as he looked decidedly cheerful as he emerged from the White House library. He did not make a diagram for the benefit of the public of what had occurred inside, but there is pretty certain to be a stir in Pennsylvania offices which come under Presidental jurisdiction within a few days. Pennsylvania office seekers have been rather scarce during the Senator's absence, but they will probably make another descent upon the capital.

UNDOING PAST WORK.

A New Board Appointed to Look Into the Proposed Louisville Bridge Matter. ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1

WASHINGTON, April 18 .- The last day of the administration of President Cleveland, Secretary Endicott approved the plans of the bridge across the Ohio at Louisville, which had been submitted [to the department and approved by the Board of Engineers. Great objection was made to these plans by river men, on account of the danger threatened the free passage of coal town, but it was supposed the matter was ended with the approval of Secretary Endicott, as the present Secretary could not undo the work of his predecessor.

Secretary Procter to-day, however, ap-pointed a new board to examine into the matter, composed of the Presidents of the Mississippi and Missouri River Commissious, and another high official of the Upper Mississippi, and if their report be unfavorable, the question will be reopened.

NOT ENTIRELY POLITICAL.

Two Appointments Made Because the Applicants Fitted the Places.

WASHINGTON, April 18 .- It is said at the Treasury Department this afternoon that the appointments of Mr. Cooper as Appraiser and of Mr. Corbett as Assistant Appraiser at New York, were based almost entirely upon the recommendation of the busi-ness men of New York. While Mr. Cooper ness men of New York. While Mr. Cooper is a Republican in politics, his appointment cannot, it is said, be considered as a political one. He is a member of the drygoods firm of Sprague; Smythe & Cooper, and is said to be eminently qualified for the position.

Mr. Corbett is at present an examiner in the Appraisary office and his examples in the Appraiser's office, and his promotion is regarded as in the line of true civil service rm. He has been in the Appraiser's Department for many years, and is a spec-ialist in the matter of silk goods and em-

A TRIANGULAR FIGHT OVER.

Centestant Robert Smalls at Last Recognized by the Administration. WASHINGTON, April 18 .- Robert Smalls, who for two Congresses has made a contest for a seat in the House, has at last been recognized by the administration. His commission as Collector of Internal Revenue at Beaufort, S. C., has been made outs. This has been a triangular factional fight, in which the colored as well as the white Republicans have been divided.

The music of the convention to be held at the auspices of the National Reform Association, will be in charge of Prof. W. A. Lafferty. He desires to meet the singers of the city, who are willing to join the chorus, at the Eighth Street R. P. Church at 7.30 this evening for rehearsal. Owners of the Choral Union book are requested to bring them.

the Season Completed.

The musical of the Randail Club last evening The musical of the Randail Club last evening was largely attended, and the interest in these entertainments grows apace with the large membership of the club. The various committees on reception and banquet reported all details complete, and that the entire number of tickets, which have been limited to the capacity of new Turner Hall, are sold. This will be the society event of the season. Many unique features will be introduced, and the ladies and gentlemen who have been favored with invitations may consider themselves fortunate, as the demand for the same exceeds the number issued. At the reception banquet on April 23 music will be furnished by Toerge's Orchestra, and vocal music by the Hayden Quartet. A number of prominent visitors will be present. Caace on the Hill District. Mrs. John Kelly, a well-known milliner esiding at No. 74 Wylie avenue, who has been confined to her bed for the past four weeks on account of an accident that occurred to her two years ago, is daily grow-ing worse, and at present is in a very criti-cal condition. A surgical operation is about to be performed upon her, and her chances of surviving the ordeal are very slim. Very nearly two years ago, while going to church one Sunday morning. Mrs. Kelly slipped and fell, while walking slong Webster avenue. She suntained a fracture of the right limb just above the ankle. A physician was called to attend her, and he set the limb. The bones of the leg apparently grew together again and the wound healed a few months after the accident.

About four weeks ago she complained of a numbness in her limb, and, thinking she had rheumatism, applied remedies for that disease. The pain grew worse and worse, and at last she went to a well-known practitioner on Fifth avenue who had a reputation for curing rheumatic pains. He informed her that she did not have rheumatism, but that her limb had not been set right, and the marrow and blood had decayed. In the application of the rheumatic remedies she forced this clotted matter to her hip, and became so weak that she could not stand without being supported. She then chances of surviving the ordeal are very

A CONSCIENTIOUS DOG.

Yankee Hound Which Will Starve Sooner Than Eat Mont on Friday. .. Phan Eat Ment on Friday.

Danbury, Conn., April 18.—The story which was recently published in a Boston paper that a dog belonging to a family in that city always disappears from home on Thursday nights, coming back on Saturday, because he did not like Friday's diet in his own family, has its counterpart here. A man in this town owns a handsome beagle hound, which, unlike the Boston dog, is a strict observer of fast days, and will not eat meat on Friday.

This has been proved a hundred times. On any other day in the week it will eat it ravenously, but if the most tempting piece of meat, either raw or cooked, is given it on Friday it will not touch it, but will go hungry first.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and chariatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his Radical Curre has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, aneering, snuffling and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, swestening the breath, restoring the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease toward the lungs, liver and kidneys.
